Health Camp Conducted During Ashadhi Tirth Yatra at Trambakeshwar

Venue: Trambakeshwar

Date: - 29.06.2026

Time: 4:00 PM to 8:00 PM

Ganpatrao Adke College of Nursing actively participated in a Health Camp organized during the Ashadhi Tirth Yatra at Trambakeshwar with the objective of providing basic healthcare services to the pilgrims and promoting community health.

The health camp was conducted from 4:00 PM to 8:00 PM, where Third Year GNM students enthusiastically participated under the guidance of Mr. Vishal Adbale, Assistant Professor, who served as the Health Camp In-charge.

During the camp, the students provided primary health assessment and nursing care to the pilgrims. A large number of devotees approached the camp with complaints of leg pain, fatigue, and high blood pressure due to the long journey undertaken during the pilgrimage. The students diligently assessed the clients by recording their vital signs, including blood pressure, pulse, respiration, and temperature. They also provided therapeutic leg massage to relieve pain, discomfort, and muscle fatigue experienced by the pilgrims.

Approximately 150 clients were assessed and benefited from the nursing services provided during the health camp. The students demonstrated professionalism, compassion, and excellent clinical skills while delivering quality care to the devotees.

In addition to the healthcare services, the students also undertook a social welfare initiative by distributing 250 college bags free of cost to the pilgrims, which was warmly appreciated by the beneficiaries.

The health camp proved to be a meaningful community outreach activity, offering valuable practical exposure to the students while serving the healthcare needs of the pilgrims. The event reflected the institution's commitment to community service, health promotion, and the holistic development of future nursing professionals.

The programme Aimed to spread awareness about organ donation remove misconception, and encourage public participation. The organizers appealed to citizens to support the nodel cause of saving lives through organ donation.
